Give Dad Something Special This Father's Day

Fathers play a special role in people's lives. Let them know that. On June 19 skip the tie and tell your dad what he means to you from the bottom of your heart. Some suggestions:

- Write a letter thanking your father. Talk about all he's done and all he means to you. Read it in front of him and the whole family. You can frame it and even add photos or other mementos.
- Write a thank-you book. Buy a small book of blank pages. On each page, record something you're thankful for. Example: "Thanks, Dad, for all the help you provided on my algebra homework when I was a kid." Send it around to your other siblings and have them contribute their own thoughts of gratitude.
- Create a record of your father's life. Get family members and old friends to write down their memories of your father. Then write a script incorporating all the stories and present it to him.
